The Albanian Government, on Soviet advice, will construct a school of oil technology (Teknikum Petrol) at Kushove to furnish Albania with oil specialists. The lack of such specialists has resulted in a drop in the rate of oil production. The building will be finished at the end of 1954 and will consist of 106 classrooms and 24 laboratories. The school will accommodate 3,500 students and will be staffed by Rumanian and Soviet instructors.

Comment: Albanian oil production has decreased by 50 percent. Soviet specialists are trying to "boost up" production and are sending Albanian engineers to the USSR for training purposes.
